From Merapi to the Southern Sea:
The Harmony of Javanese Spirituality

Laras Ayodhya

Laras Ayodha is a design concept inspired by the Sumbu Filosofi Yogyakarta—the sacred axis connecting Gunung Merapi, the Keraton, and the Southern Sea. This spatial alignment reflects a deep Javanese belief in harmony between the divine, the human, and the natural realms. Through this lens, this design translates cosmic balance into interior space, where materials, forms, and atmosphere align to evoke a quiet, contemplative harmony rooted in spiritual tradition.

Merapi

Keraton

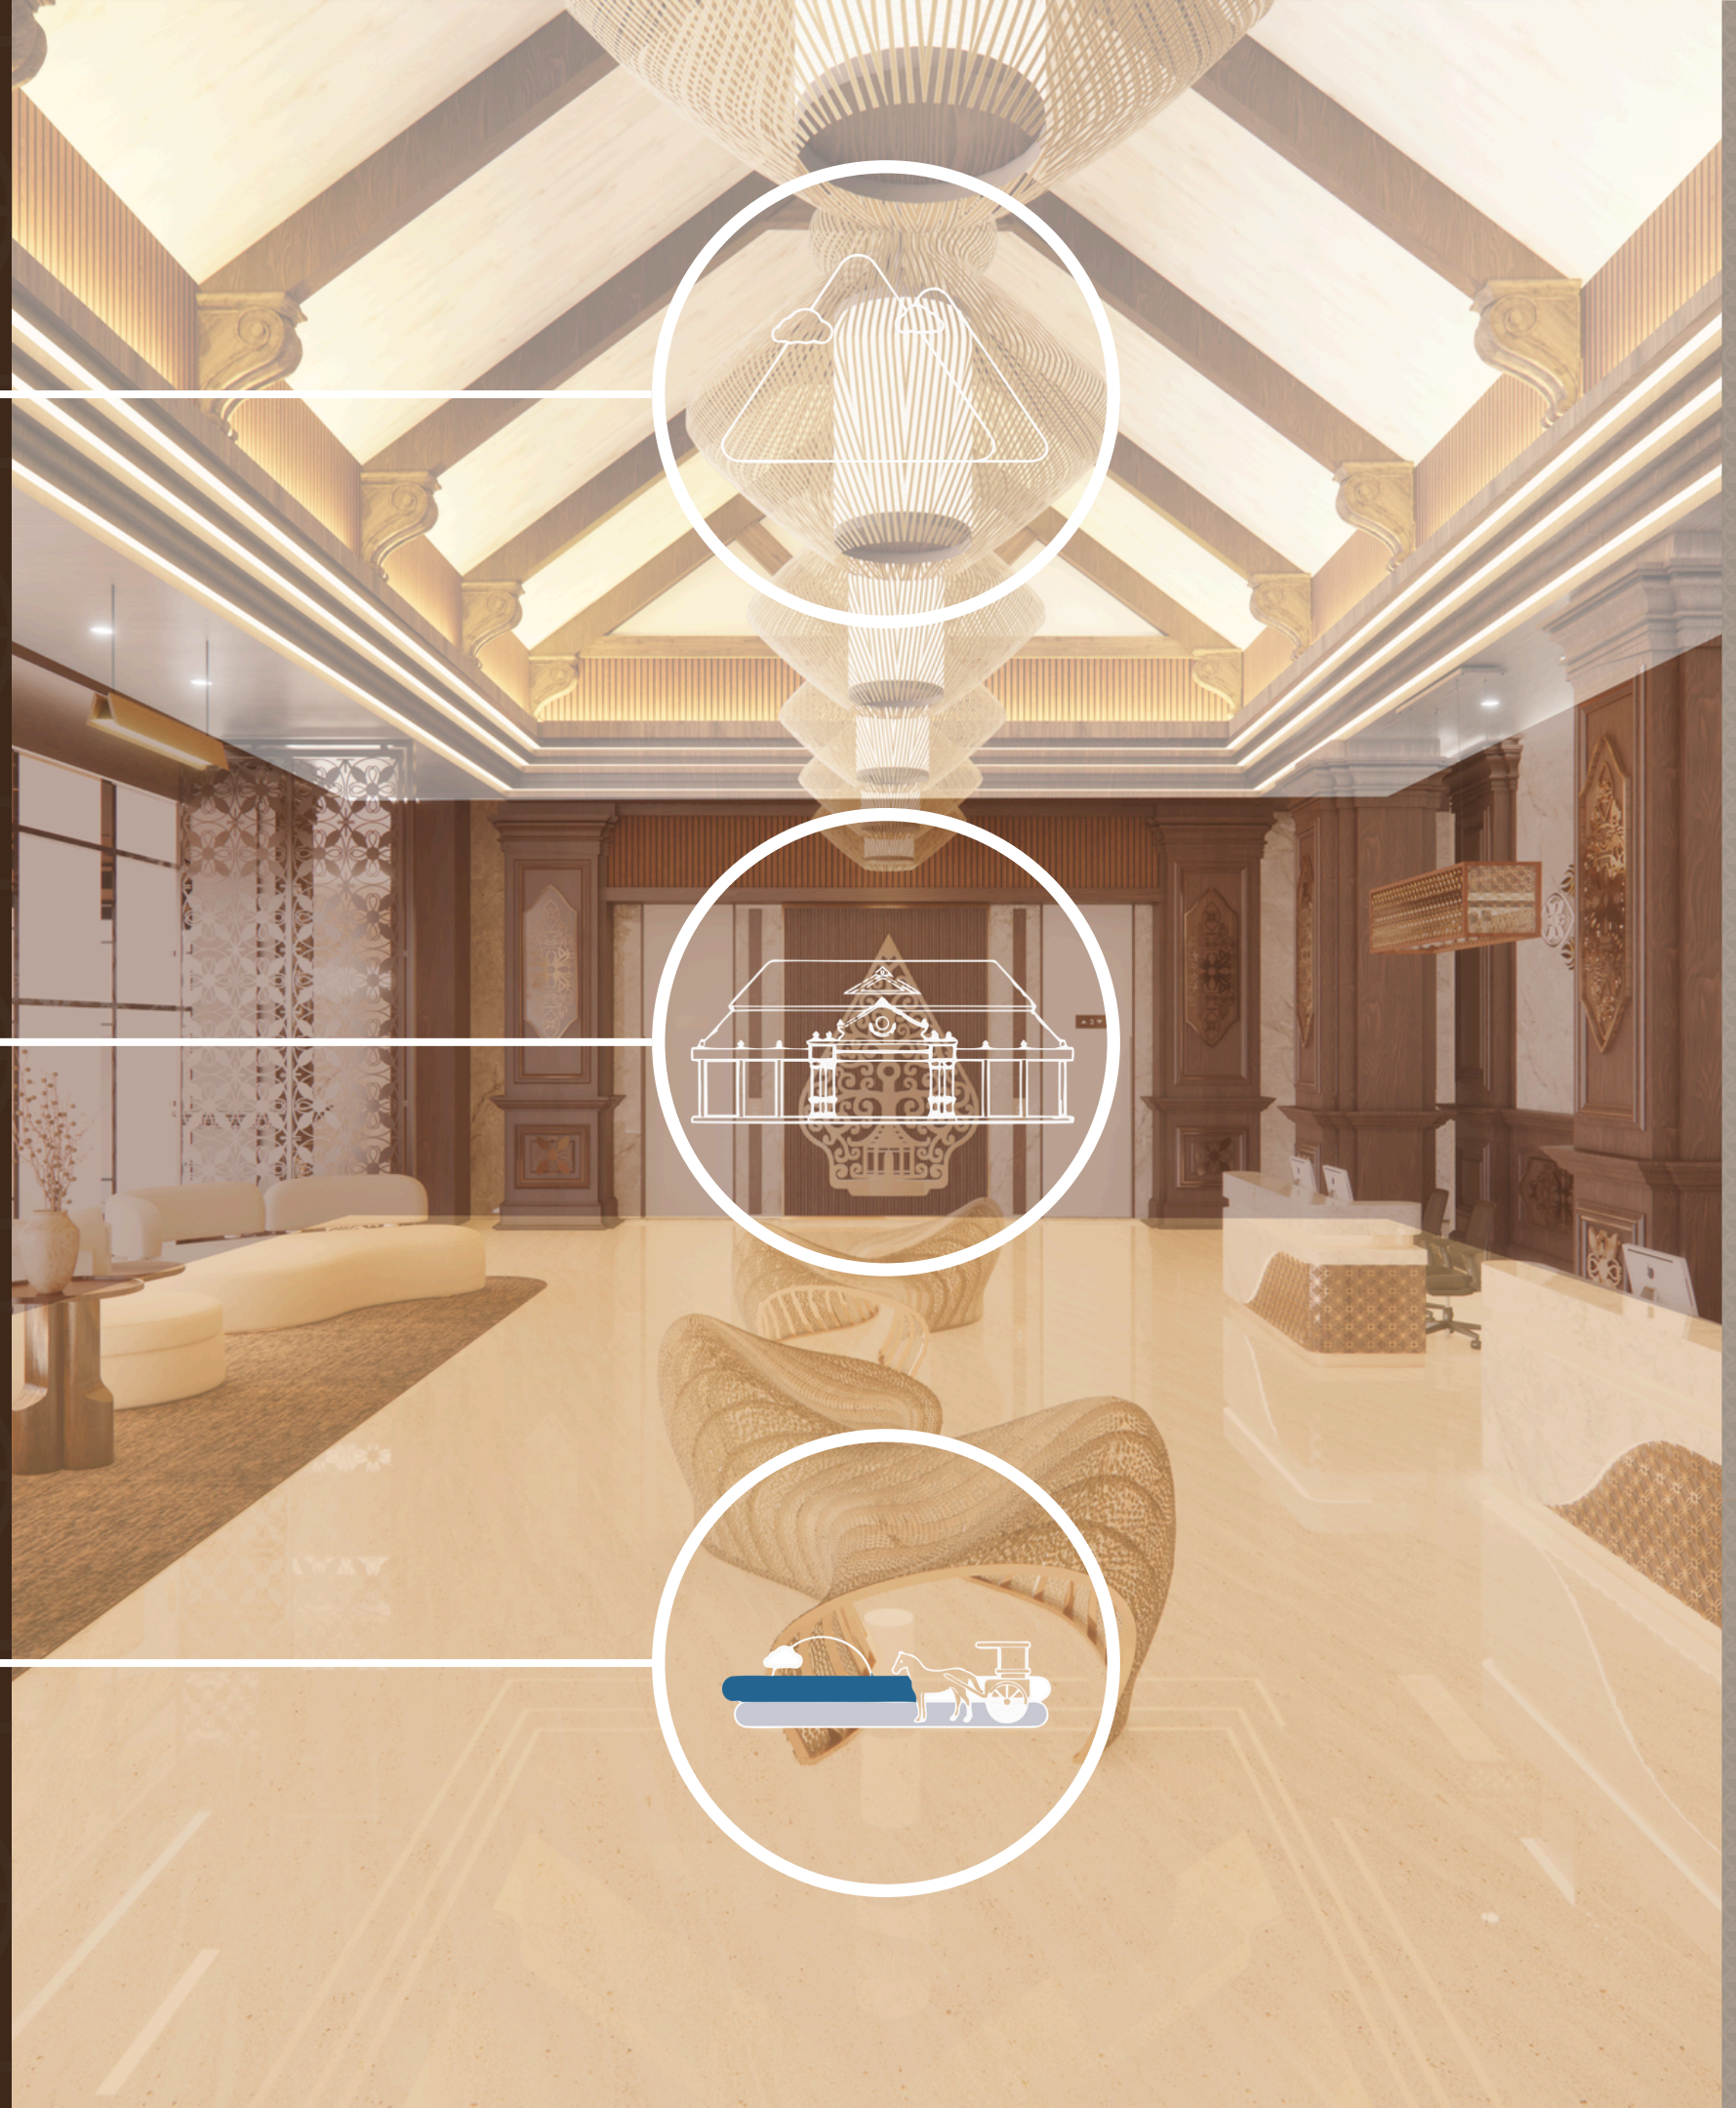

Parangtritis

Gunung Merapi represents the spiritual realm, symbolizing a connection to the divine and the pursuit of higher purpose.

The Keraton stands at the center as the human realm, reflecting balance, order, and the cultural heart of Javanese life.

The Southern Sea symbolizes the natural and subconscious world, embodying mystery, emotion, and the unseen forces of nature.

The triangular ceiling symbolizes Gunung Merapi, representing the spiritual realm in the Sumbu Filosofis Yogyakarta. Its upward form evokes ascension and connection to the divine.

The aligned hanging lamps beneath it trace a vertical axis, reflecting the philosophical path from the heavens (Merapi) to the earth (Keraton) and sea (Pantai Selatan)—a spatial journey of harmony and balance.

The walls and central structure represent the Keraton, the heart of the Sumbu Filosofis, symbolizing the human realm, where life, culture, and order converge.

The symmetrical layout, rich wooden columns, and traditional patterns reflect the dignity and balance of the palace, grounding the space in Javanese identity and harmony.

The warm-toned floor, with its smooth natural finish, evokes the gentle depth of the Southern Sea, grounding the space in calmness and subtly symbolizing the realm of nature and the subconscious in the Sumbu Filosofis journey.
